In U.S., Canada, England, Zionists Score Britain For Struma Deaths

Opening with impressive memorial rites for the 769 men, women and children who perished three weeks ago in the sinking of the Jewish refugee ship Struma in the Black Sea while seeking haven in Palestine, the National Administrative Council, supreme body of the Zionist Organization of America, unanimously adopted a resolution proposed by Judge Louis E. Levinthal, president, expressing "distress and horror" at the tragedy.

It urged the United States government to intervene with the British government with a view to "carrying into effect such changes in the policies as well as in the personnel of the British administration as shall make impossible the repetition of this appalling happening." It declared that "while the primary responsibility for their tragic fate lies at the door of the Nazi persecutors, the Palestine administration, which callously rejected the despairing pleas for their admission to Palestine, cannot escape moral responsibility for the tragic sequel."

The meeting also adopted a resolution calling for the "immediate release of the 700 refugees from the steamer Darien who have for more than a year been interned in Palestine," as well as "the return to Palestine of 1800 refugees who were deported under most distressing circumstances to the Island of Mauritius by the Palestine [illegible] in March last year, [illegible] have since died."

[illegible] the death of 769 Jewish [illegible] from Rumania who perished when the steamer Struma sank in the Black Sea recently.

A London conference on Zionist education in Great Britain and Ireland, which Dr. Weizmann addressed, adopted a resolution describing the handling of Palestinian affairs as "inimical to the Allied war effort."

"This horrible fact is enough to throw a glaring light upon the treatment meted to us by the Palestine Administration and to some extent also by those who are responsible in Whitehall," Mr. Weizmann said in regard to the Struma incident.

"These people could have entered Palestine as certificated immigrants if the slightest good-will or desire to meet us in such a tragic emergency had been shown.

"What sort of people are those who rule the destinies of Palestine? People without understanding, without compassion, without pity.

"One is driven to the conclusion that these Draconian regulations, this sending of people deliberately to their death, are only applied to Jews and applied particularly to Jews in their national home.

"It is a mockery to have to register facts of this kind and at the same time to read the high-sounding phrases mouthed so often by the leaders of democracy."

The conference appealed to Viscount Cranborne, the Colonial Secretary, to make fundamental changes in the policy regarding Jewish immigration to Palestine to prevent a recurrence of the Struma tragedy.

Jews Destroy Selves And Children in Chopin Russian Town

Advancing [illegible] troops have found un[illegible] concealed in the fields [illegible] of corpses of Jews who had been frozen to death while carrying out the heavy tasks set by the Nazis to Jewish forced labourers, including the clearing of snow on the roads and railways. The bodies of the Jews were unclothed, the Nazis, apparently, having helped themselves to the clothes of their victims.

Attributing their headlong retreat to the activities of "Jewish spies," the German military authorities in Kiev recently ordered all the remaining Jews in Kiev to report to the occupation authorities, says a Kuibyshev report.

Aware of the fact that the order meant a new Jewish massacre, many Jewish mothers killed their children and committed suicide. Many elderly Jews killed themselves by jumping from windows. For days, the report says, their bodies remained untouched on the pavements. Numbers of Jews lost their reason and are running wild in the streets of Kiev.

Similar reports come from other Jewish-populated towns in Nazi-occupied Ukraine.

The German radio has announced that a Jewish unit, formed in the Jewish Autonomous Region of Biro-Bidjan (Far East), is now operating in the Crimea. The Nazi spokesman accuses the unit of "ignoring all the rules of civilized warfare and of shooting wounded German Troops."

Jewish guerrilla fighters, operating in the Bobruisk (Minsk) district, were attacked by a [illegible] regiment, and in the [illegible] killed, according to German claims. Subsequently, 18 Jewish residents of Bobruisk, accused of having assisted the guerrilla band, were executed.

1,000 Refugees Bound For New World This Month

Approximately 1,000 refugees will leave European shores bound for the Western Hemisphere during March, it was revealed by the Joint Distribution Committee, one of the three constituent agencies of the United Jewish Appeal for Refugees, Overseas Needs and Palestine. The departure of these emigrants will bring to approximately 3,200 the number of Jews evacuated from Europe by the J.D.C. since Pearl Harbor.

Although the names of the boats and the exact sailing dates cannot be revealed due to censorship regulations, Moses A. Leavitt, Secretary of the J.D.C., said that two Portuguese steamers will leave from Lisbon with 900 and 400 passengers, respectively. Some [illegible] refugees who were stranded in [illegible] as a result of the cancellation [illegible] a scheduled sailing by a Spanish steamer, will be enabled to complete their voyage on one of the Portuguese vessels.

"Once the March sailings have been completed, the J.D.C. would attempt to arrange for another boat to carry approximately 500 visa-holders in France to their destination. These persons have received advisory approvals from the State Department, he pointed out, and the securing of their visas was dependent upon their having a fixed booking on an overseas boat. The J.D.C., by arranging for a boat to sail, would make possible the granting of the visas.

In the light of developments since Pearl Harbor, Mr. Leavitt indicated, it seemed likely that a stream of emigration, even though limited in scope, would continue throughout the war so long as the J.D.C. found it possible to gain

Hungarians Protest Pogroms

BALK AT ANTI-JEWISH ACTS

Socialist spokesmen in the Hungarian Lower House have made a powerful protest against the anti-Jewish pogroms staged by the Hungarian authorities in Transylvania and the occupied territory in Galicia and Yugoslavia. They accused the Hungarian soldiers of committing outrages against Jewish girls and women, and censured the ill-treatment of Jews in the forced labour and concentration camps. Jewish internees in the camps, they said, were compelled to toil without adequate food and medical attention. One speaker said that last year 242 interned Jews had died in the camps as a result of this treatment.

During another debate, Deputy Payer, the leader of the Socialist Party, denounced the recent measure for the elimination of Jews from municipal councils. He was supported by a number of members of the Socialist, Liberal, and Farmers' Parties. The Minister of the Interior, in his reply, announced that the Government had no intention of ordering new municipal elections, and that consequently the elected Jewish councillors would not be executed now. He also declared that the Government had no need for further anti-Jewish measures at this stage.

Other members belong to the Government Party and to the Nazi Groups, including the anti-Semitic ex-Premier, Imredy (who, it will be recalled, was compelled to resign following the revelation that he was of distant Jewish origin), urged stronger anti-Semitic measures to solve the Jewish problem in Hungary. The Premier, Bardossy, declared, however, that the discussion of further anti-Jewish legislation must be postponed indefinitely.

A severe attack on Cardinal Saredi, the Hungarian Primate, in connection with his anti-Nazi speeches has been broadcast by the Nazi-controlled Belgrade radio. The Nazi spokesman characterized the Cardinal's speech, in which he denounced the anti-Christian doctrines of the Nazis and their racial laws, as pro-Bolshevik and pro-Jewish. The Cardinal was told that Germany was determined not to tolerate such utterances in the future.

Jewish Welfare Board To Gather War Records

Organization of a Department of War Records of the Jewish Welfare Board to gather information regarding the achievements and other service records of the men of Jewish faith in the armed forces of the United States, was announced by Frank L. Weil, president of the National Jewish Welfare Board.

Plans for the establishment of the department were developed by a technical committee headed by Dr. Louis I. Dublin, noted statistician and vice-president of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company. The preliminary findings of the committee and the specific proposals to enable the Board, as the representative of the entire Jewish community, to obtain records of Jewish servicemen were presented by Dr. Dublin at a meeting of the representatives of the 34 national organizations affiliated with the Army and Navy Committee of the Jewish Welfare Board.

One phase of the approach in gathering the records will be to make a series of sample studies in a "number of communities where reasonably reliable estimates of the total Jewish population are available," Dr. Dublin said. "In these communities a concerted effort will be made to secure all the names of Jewish men who have entered every branch of the service." The committee will compile records of honors, citations, promotions, casualties and other data on the military records of individuals.

Dr. Dublin declared that community committees throughout the country are a valuable source of information regarding Jewish participation in the war effort, point-

[illegible] and Jewish Centers and "HIAS," synagogues and fraternal organizations, and other affiliated national organizations already maintain honor rolls of men in service. "The Jewish Welfare Board will make use of such lists in directing its workers in the field to serve the men as they arrive in the

Norway Prepares Measures Against Jews And Freemasons

The Swedish press reports that Fuglesand, chief of the Norwegian State Secretariat, who is the connecting link between the German authorities in Norway and the Nasjonal Samling, Quisling's organization, has been put in charge of anti-Jewish propaganda in Norway, and that this barrage is becoming increasingly severe.

Far-reaching measures are being prepared against the Jews, who are not numerous in Norway, as well as against the former Freemasons, who are regarded as "synthetic Jews." A decree is expected to be published shortly compelling Jews to wear the Magen David, and Freemasons will probably also have some distinguishing mark.

Describing Norwegian resentment against these proposed measures, one Swedish paper declares: "One can easily imagine the reaction of Norwegian patriots to this laboured anti-Jewish propaganda. The Norwegian patriots' aversion for the Quislingites finds its expression in the complete isolation of N.S. adherents from their circle of acquaintances. Norwegians cease to acknowledge any friends of theirs who have joined the N.S."

Meanwhile, a drastic new anti-Jewish regulation has already been introduced. Identity cards, including border zone passports, belonging to Jews must henceforward have the word "Jew" stamped on them before they can be considered valid. A Jew is anyone who, during the last three generations, has a Jew among his ancestors, regardless of nationality; anyone belonging to a Jewish religious community; and anyone who is or has been married to a Jew or who intends to marry a Jew in the future. Jews had to report to the police by March 1 or be subject to a fine or to imprisonment.

Discrimination In Employment Discussed

N.Y. LAW URGED AGAINST CERTAIN WANT-ADS

About five hundred complaints of discrimination by defense industries against Negroes, Jews, and aliens were received by the President's Committee on Fair Employment Practices prior to the hearings in New York, from organizations and individuals in the Metropolitan area comprising New York, New Jersey, and Connecticut.

While protestations with respect to discrimination were made by representatives of the Protestant, Catholic and alien groups, as well as the representatives of Negroes and Jews, it became apparent as the hearings developed that discrimination was directed primarily against Negroes and Jews.

No decisions were reached at the hearings. The record was to be studied by the members of the Committee whose function it is to recommend for action to the President cases of those defense contractors who, in its judgment, are proven to have exercised discrimination, according to the Congress Bulletin.

The principal outlines of the problem were presented by the representatives of the various minority groups with evidence against the defense industries and also by leaders of public opinion and the representatives of the government of the City and State. M. S. McLean, head of the Hampton Institute, presided. Members of the Committee conducting the investigations included:

David Sarnoff, head of the Radio Corporation of America;

Mark Ethridge, General Manager of the Louisville Courier-Journal;

Earl B. Dickerson, Negro member of the Chicago Board of Aldermen;

Frank Fenton, representing William Green of the American Federation of Labor;

John Brophy, alternate for Philip Murray of the C.I.O.;

Milton R. Webster, Vice-President of the Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Porters;

Lawrence W. Cramer, Executive Secretary, President's Committee on Fair Employment Practices.

The counsel to the Committee was Eugene Davidson, a Negro.

The session opened with presentations by Lieutenant-Governor Charles Poletti, of New York State, and Mayor Fiorello H. LaGuardia, of New York. Their statements

• UNITED JEWISH REFUGEE AND WAR RELIEF AGENCIES sends Passover relief to Jewish refugees overseas through the Joint Distribution Committee. This year help can be sent to hundreds of thousands of Polish Jewish refugees in Russia, who will be provided with matzohs. In certain communities of Canada specific funds were raised for this purpose. The needs of a number of evacuee families, women and children who have come to Canada from England for the duration of the war, are looked after. There are about 30 such Jewish families in Montreal and a similar number in Toronto, who at first were entirely dependent upon the U.J.R. for maintenance, being unable to receive any funds whatsoever from England. Since January, however, with the enforcement of a new regulation whereby evacuees may receive from England ten pounds monthly for the mother and three pounds for each child, these families do not need to be supported, except in cases where their relatives in England are not in a position to send any money. On the whole, the maintenance of evacuees is no longer a problem. Nevertheless, in view of Passover, the Committee will see to it that they are provided with the necessary food supplies. Even those who receive funds from England will also get special attention from the Committee if this is required. Matzohs for the German Jewish refugees interned in Canada will be provided. Although the number of refugee internees has been reduced since last year with the release of a considerable number, there are still a good many left. Permission has been received from the Canadian Grain Board to import six thousand pounds of matzohs and other Passover supplies. Last year the Committee also received such a permit. Provision of articles for Passover is in charge of S. Goldner, of the U.J.R., and of M. Petera, of the Jewish Community Council. At the end of February, 1942, the number of refugees in camps was 1157 of whom 75 per cent are Jewish, whereas last Passover there were over 2500. Saul Hayes is Executive Director of the U.J.R.

Your Host—Awaits You—at the Inn

Tucked against the hill, just at the bend of the road, this lovely inn awaits your coming.

Many are the weary and wayworn travellers who have crossed its threshold to know its hospitality.

All over our Province these charming inns beckon to us. Our traditions have been enriched by the genial souls who beam upon us and serve us so well. We owe much to their thoughtfulness, their tact and their warm friendliness. The keeper of our country hotel is indeed a most charming and colorful host.

Long to be remembered is the day we sat with him — and drank our beer — while the brook babbled on and the birds sang no end.

"Cheerio, mine host."

By our conduct — our self discipline — our moderation alone can we do justice to such a peaceful scene.

Thrift BUILDS SHIPS!

Where does the money come from to wage this War—to build the ships, the planes and tanks we need to "finish the job?"

Much of it comes from the savings of ordinary men and women—the thrifty people of Canada—the savers. These are the people who buy Victory Bonds and War Savings Certificates, who pay their War Taxes on the nail. Never before has personal thrift been so vitally necessary. Watch your spending. Every dollar you can spare is needed now to arm and equip our fighting forces—to win this War.

METROPOLITAN LIFE REPORT STRESSES WAR

Policyholders' Premium Dollars Aiding Purchase of Tools of War

The vitally important contribution to war effort which the individual policyholder is making through his life insurance premium payments is revealed in the seventy-fifth annual report of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company just released at Ottawa. The report stresses the fact that in time of war the security underlying life insurance takes on a new meaning. More than ever before security for the family is paramount. But, while supporting that security life insurance dollars, invested in Government Bonds, are helping to buy planes, tanks, ships, guns and all the other implements of war.

Illustrating the extent of such war effort by life insurance dollars, Metropolitan reports investment of $1,319,913,987 in Canadian and United States Government Bonds.

Edwin C. McDonald, Vice-President in Charge of Canadian Head Office of Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, which has to date invested $12,000,000 in Dominion Government War Loans.

For the year ending December 31, 1941 Metropolitan reports a total of $25,436,236,148 of life insurance in force, and Accident and Health insurance providing $1,934,617,475 principal sum benefits and $25,997,024 weekly benefits, which gave protection to the more than 29,400,000 of the company's policyholders in Canada and the United States. Both the amount of insurance and the number of policyholders represent new high marks in the company's history. For the tenth successive year payments to policyholders and their beneficiaries exceeded a half billion dollars, the figure for 1941 being $567,941,296 and payments were made at an average rate of $4,701.50 a minute each business day of the year.

More than $383,700,000 or over 67% of this total was paid or credited to living policyholders.

An increase of $280,255,550 in assets brought the company's assets to $[illegible] at the end of 1941. This amount, all of which is held for the benefit of policyholders, covers liabilities, including statutory policy reserves, of $5,169,968,752; special surplus funds of $7,190,000, unassigned funds (surplus) of $340,894,142, and reserve for dividends payable to policyholders in 1942 amounting to $109,976,302. Including the 1942 declaration, the total amount paid or credited to date by the company to its policyholders for dividends (and bonuses prior to its mutualization in 1915) has been in excess of 1¾ billion dollars.

Mr. Edwin C. McDonald, Vice-President in Charge of Canadian Head Office, commented on the fact that there are approximately two million Metropolitan policyholders in Canada, representing one out of every six persons living in the Dominion. They are insured by Metropolitan for $1,294,023,576.

Payments by Metropolitan to Canadian policyholders and their beneficiaries in 1941 amounted to $28,977,869. New life insurance issued in Canada totalled $134,794,051.

camps. It is not intended to secure these lists in a wholesale fashion," Dr. Dublin added, "but rather to concentrate the collection of names in a representative committee in each community, which will sift out all duplications."

Your Life Insurance in Wartime

IN TIME OF WAR, the security underlying your life insurance takes on a new meaning. More than ever before, security for the family is paramount.

While supporting that security, your life insurance dollars, invested in Government Bonds, are helping to buy planes, tanks, ships, guns, and all the other implements of war. Thus your life insurance dollars are helping to safeguard your life and to protect your liberties.

At the end of 1941, Metropolitan had a total of $1,319,913,986.74 invested in Canadian and United States Government Bonds... over 23% of the Company's assets.

In both Canada and the United States, life insurance dollars are helping to finance the industries which are pouring out the steel, chemicals, oil, food, munitions, and other materials needed for the war and to finance power production and transportation facilities. Each month more and more of your life insurance dollars are flowing from the channels of peace into investments that serve war uses and war industries.

Because of public appreciation of life insurance, increased efficiency of our agents, and the better national income during 1941, lapses and surrenders were at the lowest rate recorded in the Company's history.

In fulfilling its obligations to policyholders during 1941, Metropolitan paid or credited to policyholders and their beneficiaries more than $567,900,000. Of this amount, more than $383,700,000 was paid or credited to living policyholders.

Metropolitan is a mutual company. Its assets are held for the benefit of its policyholders and their beneficiaries. In the meantime, these assets are, as always in the past, being used to help meet national needs.

A Solumn Rabbinical Convention

The Central Conference of American Rabbis held its fifty-third annual assembly in Cincinnati, Ohio, in conjunction with the centenary of Cincinnati's historic Congregation Bnai Yeshurun. This latter synagogue has often been called "a mother in Israel." Over its destinies during nearly a half century presided the master-builder of Reform Judaism in America, Isaac M. Wise. In a way, for many of the Rabbis, this foregathering in Cincinnati was a sort of a homecoming. Cincinnati, because it boasts the Hebrew Union College, is the spiritual home of most American Rabbis.

As one who actively participated in the program of the convention, we came away with the conviction that Reform is still in the process of reformulation and therein lies its strength. Unlike past conventions, this year's assembly gave strong emphasis to the peoplehood of Israel along with prophetic universalism which has ever been stressed in progressive Judaism. Emphasis too, in papers and addresses, was given to the urgency for greater discipline in religious living and the need to summon Jews to live the faith by everyday study of Torah and communion with God.

While the general theme of the convention dealt with "Liberal Judaism In A Reactionary Age" it was the faith of the conference that the mood of present temporary defeatism in the world must not be equated with the permanent adventure of the spirit toward the goals envisioned by our prophets of yore. It is the Bayom Ha-Hu Yihyeh Adonoy Echod Ushemo Echod, this classic prophetic hope of "on that day" that can comfort us even now in this whole era of bestiality. Because of the gloominess of our age and day it is imperative that we be all the more unregenerated liberals and identify ourselves with the struggle for freedom's rebirth in human thought, in theology, and social striving.

The message of the Central Conference of American Rabbis' president, Rabbi James G. Heller, was a most provocative and solemn message worthy of these dark and doubtful days. Speaking of Israel's role in forewarning, with the rise of Nazilism, a war for the world, Dr. Heller voiced the following pointed and poignant paragraph: "There is a myth that great violinists prick their finger-tips until they are raw and bleeding, so that they may touch the strings more sensitively. Many ages of insecurity, of flight, and persecution, have equipped Jews with a sixth sense of calamity. We are the staccato bird-flights that speed over the tranquil heavens before the first, faint intimation of the storm."

The question of Jewish chaplaincy service in the Armed Forces invoked much discussion. Jewish Chaplains who ought to be summoned to the service of America are those best fitted to carry on public relations in the army, who know something of the art of ministering to young men. It was good to observe that in the ministry of United States chaplaincy, Conservative, Reform and Orthodox Rabbis have presented a united front and their representatives work in unity as a committee.

One of the recent results in co-operation between the three Rabbinical bodies is a wish for a convention in which Orthodox, Reform and Conservative Rabbis meet in joint sessions to deal with common problems. Thus the Reform Conference of Rabbis has gone on record by unanimous resolution that such joint meetings be held in Atlantic City in June, 1943.

One of the vexing problems that has confronted the Reform Rabbinate for a long time has been the subject of pensions. Most of the Christian Church denominations have long ago put to work plans by which ministers are protected in their old age with financial support. It cannot thus be said of American Jewry. Rabbis, Orthodox, Reform and Conservative, who grow old in the service of the synagogue often find themselves forgotten and neglected even by the very communities they have so faithfully served. The Conference thus by unanimous resolution has now adopted an insurance plan by which Congregation, Rabbi and Union of Congregations will share in annual payments to safeguard the economic security of the minister who because of old age is forced to retire from active ministration. If the pension plan will work it will mark a great step forward in the increase of the dignity of organized religious Jewish life in America.

That Reform Judaism be properly interpreted it is now assured that a worthy magazine will soon appear regularly setting forth the message of Liberal Judaism in America. That the Conference of Rabbis met in the very city from which it received its original inspiration is historic. Here a signal was given by this fifty-third meeting for a renewal of the Reform message; for a renewal of Liberal Judaism's vigor in a world so urgently in need of the Liberal faith.

"Sometimes when people censure me,
I tell them without rancor
That for what it cost me to be free,
I might have had an easier."

The Review has received a number of inquiries over a period which show anxiety on the part of readers about the situation of Jewish interned refugees in Canadian camps. The following letter from Miss Zelda Cass, 155 Huron Street, Toronto, typifies the feeling expressed with regard to these internees:

"I am not introducing a new subject to the readers of this paper, I am sure, for they have been reading it not only for the social announcements of personal interest, and are thoroughly awakened to the fact that many of our kin are at present interned in refugee camps in Canada. Every day we hear of campaigns and appeals for Youth Aliyah, for Russian relief, for assistance to people with whom we may never have any direct contact. True, these calls are very noble and it is of vital importance that we heed them. But what about the plight of those unfortunate people who stand facing our door which remains shut to the majority of them? What have we done to alleviate their present lot? These innocent victims of Nazi oppression are looking to us to give them the opportunity of reestablishing themselves in the ways of normal human beings.

"Canada needs these men. Their knowledge and ability would be of great value to her war effort. The conditions governing the regulations under which release will be granted are either employment as a skilled worker in a defense industry or enrollment as a student. Few cannot comply with these requirements and their command of the English language is excellent.

"Promises, correspondence, and discussion over the tea cups is not enough. Action with a sincere effort must be instituted by each and every Canadian Jew. Too many of us are satisfied to leave these national problems to the Canadian Jewish Congress and other such representative bodies to deal with. During these trying days we cannot count too much on what the morrow will bring; we must build for the future by grasping every available opportunity today. Time, which is most valuable, is most trifled with. We must resolve to help these able-bodied Jewish youths to find their rightful place in society without further delay. I have at hand the name of a Christian who merely chanced upon an internee through the medium of a church list and planned to go to Montreal to meet his charge before making him a freshman at Queen's University. If a Gentile can find a place in his heart for such a deed, why can't a fellow Jew?"

This column has talked with Saul Hayes, of Montreal, Executive Director of the United Jewish Refugee and War Relief Agencies, and has information from him on the matter of obtaining the release of internees. It is given here in the hope that it will be widely discussed and any news in it spread to reach as many people as possible, so that they may have facts.

Since the beginning of September four hundred and fifty refugees have "registered" with the Central Committee for Interned Refugees, asking release as students. As of February 17th, eighty-eight have been released for study in Canada. Thirty-six are in Montreal, sixteen at McGill University, the others at secondary schools of whom the great number will be ready for university work next term. There are thirty-one remaining students in Toronto of whom seventeen are at the University. The remaining students are at Kingston, Ottawa, Vancouver, Winnipeg, Wolfville, Middleton, Newmarket. They would all like to continue secular studies. Some students wish to continue theological studies. At the intervention of the Chief Rabbi Joseph Hertz, of London, England, thirty out of thirty-eight were accepted by the Immigration Department for study at the Rabbinical Seminary in Toronto. Also, it is expected that twenty-seven additional students would go to Tomche Tmimim Seminary in Montreal. Note that it is the Government's policy to release bona fide students, those who were students when they were interned in England. Thus the majority of the remaining two hundred and twenty would not be eligible for release.

With regard to technicians, there is no general policy, but the Government treats each case as an immigration problem. The situation is more promising now with technicians, since fifty-two draftsmen, engineers and mechanics will be released for work at a Government plant. Some untrained internees will receive training through the ORT trades schools project and that will be helpful to them in securing release.

The authorities are studying the matter of facilitating the applications of internees for army service.

About a dozen cases are being taken up by the Canadian Legation at Washington with the State Department of the United States. The refugee desiring entry to the country must have no relatives in Germany or German-occupied territory, and must have first-degree relatives, preferably parents, in the United States. Such tentative application has been undertaken since sponsors of affidavits are being permitted to appear before a Special Committee of Review after the State Department has turned down a visa application.

The release of agricultural workers has been pressed, especially since there are about one hundred men in the camps with at least twelve months' training, of whom between thirty and forty are expert farmers. It is expected that some may be released soon since there is a marked shortage of farm workers. This shortage is being felt by Jewish refugee farmers. The Government Agricultural Department and also Immigration authorities recognize these farmers as being first-rate. On the whole they have been successful as a result of former experience in the old country. Most were assisted by the United Jewish Refugee and War Relief Agencies, and they have not only been able to repay their loans, but they have managed to increase their production. Most of them came to Canada during the two years before the war, and some since, from Czechoslovakia, Austria, Germany, and Poland, having obtained permits to settle on farms. They are in Nova Scotia, in the Clarenceville district near the border; near Cornwall; in Ontario around Oshawa; in Manitoba; and in the district between Hamilton and Niagara Falls. These farmers require help and prospects look promising for some internees to be sponsored on farms.

Students who were released for secular study and those released to seminaries were sponsored. The tendency of the Government is to release internees for whom assurance is given that they will not engage in any work which might harm the employment interests of other citizens, that they will not take work and throw someone else out of a job. Those who give this assurance are the sponsors. They do not need to put up cash but they must be able to satisfy the Canadian Immigration Department that they can be responsible for the care and maintenance of internees released to them. The amount of money it requires to sponsor a student varies from $1,000 a year to as low as $300, depending upon study courses and living quarters.

When this column asked Mr. Hayes what it requires to be a sponsor, he said: "Gumption." Gumption means a combination of perception, discrimination, and common sense. A person with gumption will have understanding and decent, humane feeling without mushy sentimentalism. Any one who has met the refugee students has been touched by their situation, and usually charmed by the boys, at least pleased with their personality and bearing, and amazed at the ability with which they speak English. Many are in camp for lack of sponsors. Considering the attitude of the Government, the members of the community can get them out if they want to.

Jewish Families Prepare For Uniformed Guests At Passover Seders

Canadians To Be Taken Care Of In England

Observance of Passover by Jewish members of Canada's fighting forces, both in Canada and overseas, has been arranged for. Captain S. Gershon Levi, of Montreal, is Senior Jewish Chaplain. Army, Navy, and Air Force have issued orders authorizing officers commanding to grant leave to Jewish personnel for the first two and last two days of the festival, with enough time, where possible, to reach the nearest synagogue or Jewish community by sunset the evening before. While no leave is authorized for Chol Ha-Moed (the intermediate days), there is a provision permitting those who can arrange it to eat out of barracks during those days.

"Canada" badges will be in evidence at the Seder table of many Jewish families in England this Passover. Advice received by Capt. Levi from Dayan M. Gollop, Senior Jewish Chaplain to the British Forces, indicates that Canadian Jews overseas will find many doors open to them in traditional Passover style. The War Efforts Committee of the Canadian Jewish Congress was prepared to send matzoh to England but exchange of information between the chaplains revealed that all necessary arrangements were being taken care of on the other side.

In Canada, the authorities have extended an invitation to every Jew and Jewess in the Forces on behalf of the Jewish communities from coast to coast. The official order from Ottawa reads:

"Personnel unable to reach their homes for the festival are invited by the Canadian Jewish Congress to communicate with its offices at 1121 St. Catherine Street West, Montreal; 229 Yonge Street, Toronto; or 402 Confederation Life Bldg., Winnipeg, in order to arrange for hospitality at Seder services." This order has now been posted at every Army, Navy, and Air Force station in the country, and Jewish families from coast to coast are making preparations for uniformed guests at their Seder.

were followed by those of the representatives of various groups protesting discrimination. Rabbi J. X. Cohen, who for twelve years has guided the work of the American Jewish Congress in the field of economic discrimination, appeared in behalf of various organized Jewish groups, charging discrimination against Jews in defense industry. He presented a detailed picture of the scope and character of discrimination against Jews and recommendations for ameliorating the situation.

Attached to the general statement charging discrimination against Jews, Rabbi Cohen presented a detailed survey of ads appearing the classified sections of the New York press calling for help in the defense industries. This survey had been prepared by the staff of the Commission on Economic Problems of the Congress. These advertisements show that as recently as November 1941, six months after the President's order barring discrimination in the defense industries, 32 percent of the advertisements in the classified sections of the New York press made religion a test of employment.

The memorandum presented by Rabbi Cohen also noted that persons familiar with specific phases of discrimination affecting various groups in the community should be attached to the field staff of the President's Committee. The need for such a person, familiar with the broad Jewish problem, was demonstrated in the course of the hearings themselves, where the lack of familiarity with the problem on the part of counsel to the Committee, an expert on the Negro problem, was responsible in part for the failure to present a stronger case with respect to discrimination against Jews based on the ample factual material which had been supplied to the Committee.

Mayor LaGuardia, in the course of his presentation, took a position which has long been advocated by the American Jewish Congress, namely, that the problem of discrimination in employment is not a matter simply of local concern but is of such large import to the welfare of the entire country as to warrant treatment on a national scale.

Mr. Poletti discussed another aspect in the discrimination field, with which the Congress has been concerned for many years, namely, the advertisements appearing in the classified want-ad sections specifying "Christian only" and "White only." Mr. Poletti urged the passage of a State law prohibiting newspaper publication of such advertisements, particularly with respect to companies working on war contracts.

Mr. Poletti, in response to an inquiry from Mr. Sarnoff, said that the district attorneys throughout the State have the power to enforce laws which exist barring discrimination. Both the Mayor and the Lieutenant Governor corroborated, from their personal knowledge, the existence of discrimination against Negroes, Jews, Italians, and others. Mr. Poletti charged that government agencies themselves were guilty of discrimination and averred that, if the government does not eliminate discrimination in its own ranks, it cannot expect private industry to take it seriously. (Mr. Poletti admitted that the Governor's Committee had not been very successful in its efforts thus far.)

Mr. Poletti also stated that vigorous action was necessary to deal with this "very dark situation in New York State," and said that he was in favor of a program which would permit the State Industrial Commissioner to hold hearings, issue subpoenas, and compel private employment agencies to disclose their records and, moreover, to amend the penal laws to include those who aid employers who practice discrimination.
